EAGLE PROJECT The objective of the project was to collect hundreds of broken or unusable cell phones across three neighborhoods. These phones were sorted, cleared, and exchanged for international calling minutes so that soldiers overseas could use them to call their loved ones. Major tasks of this community service project included scouts going door to door, explaining the project, collecting the phones, and delivering them to Cell Phones for Soldiers. This organization recycles the phones in exchange for money which is used to purchase international air time calling cards. We collected 100 phones totaling to 10,200 minutes. This is enough to give 680 soldiers 15 minutes of call time each.
