Eagle Project I helped plan, organize, and execute Challenger Day for GVLL. Challenger Day is a day for people with disabilities and their families to get out and have a good time playing baseball. My specific tasks included parking, set up, clean up, having a "team manager" to direct each team to the correct fields, and the home run derby.

Future Ambitions: My plans include graduating high school and going to college. I'd like to pursue a degree in business or economics. I want to travel to different places, meet new people and see new things. After all that is done I want to move to Florida. There, I will get a well-paying job, a house on the ocean, a boat, and get married. All in all, my main goal in life is to live a happy and relaxed one.
