Eagle Project Main Line Animal Rescue tasked me with building two dog pools and weather treating a nearby storage shed. I decided that the best way for the pools to be installed was to build a deck that had cutouts for the bone shaped pools to be inserted. The project provides a nice area for the dogs and the dog walkers to relax and socialize, and also gives the dogs experience being in water. Both old and new dogs alike, the pools provide a fun place for them to splash around and enjoy their hopefully temporary stay at MLAR.

Future Ambitions: Due to my experiences in the outdoors, especially backpacking through New Mexico, I recognize the importance of preserving this planet. With this in mind, I intend to pursue a major in environmental science. I am also very interested in business because of my passion for leadership, which was inspired by my participation in and staffing NYLT and NLA.
